

Our Commitment to Preventing Modern Slavery

At Heritage Lincolnshire, we are committed to ethical practices and the protection of human rights in everything we do. We have a zero-tolerance approach to modern slavery and human trafficking. While we are a small charity we take steps to ensure that our operations, partnerships, and procurement processes are free from exploitation.

We expect all staff, volunteers, and suppliers to share this commitment, and we take concerns seriously. If you suspect unethical or exploitative practices related to our work, please contact us in confidence.